Early Balloting Is Heavy

Hot Contests Are Being Waged In The States With Big Population

By Jack Bell
Associated Press Political Reporter

First reports from the voting in today's congressional elections furnished no surprises—Republicans were out in front in normal GOP territory and the Democrats led in areas they usually control.

But the figures available in mid-afternoon, representing only a handful of an expected 40,000,000 or more ballot total, were too fragmentary to have any real meaning. They came from scattered precincts in only a few states.

GOP candidates for senator and governor edged out into a lead in normally Republican Kansas on incomplete returns from 71 of the state's 2,973 precincts.

In Massachusetts, Democratic Governor Paul Dever got 133 votes to 112 for Republican Arthur W. Coolidge in the first counting in the town of Hull. Dever carried the town about two to one in the election of two years ago.

Pte. Aux Barques, Mich., always an early reporter, went Republican 10 to 3 in the gubernatorial race. That compared with 15 to 1 GOP in 1948.

Trails Democrat

The nearest thing to a showing of a shift came from a small New Hampshire precinct. Republican Gov. Sherman Adams, who carried it 11 to 1 two years ago, trailed Democrat Robert P. Bingham 5 to 4.

From most of the country there were reports of a heavy vote. Hot contests in the big population states helped pile up the ballots and pointed toward a record total for an "off-year" election.

Long lines formed at polling places in Ohio where Senator Robert A. Taft—Mr. Republican—to many—was battling Joe Ferguson for the Senate. The turnout of voters was heavy also in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and other key states.

In 32 states, the voters were picking governors as well as helping to decide whether the Democrats or Republicans will control congress in the two critical years ahead. At stake for congress were 432 seats and 36 senate seats.

Despite the bitterness of many campaigns—some were the roughest, toughest of many years—the forenoon hours passed without any violence or incidents.

To guard against disorders, New York city put all of its 19,000 police on duty and backed them up with 1,000 special deputies and hundreds of civilian volunteers.

A. W. Haller Elected As President of Sedalia C. of C.

A. W. Haller, Broadway Arms apartment, was elected president of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, at a meeting of the executive board Monday night. Haller is owner of the Haller Office Equipment company, and has been very active in the Chamber of Commerce, having served on the board of directors for the past year.

Other officers are Jack Cunningham, first vice president, C. W. Stephenson, second vice president, Claude Boul, treasurer and Harold Seaberg, past president.

The election to vice president of C. W. Stephenson leaves a vacancy on the newly elected board and Neal O. Reyburn, who was eighth on the list automatically becomes a member of the new board.

The members of the board for the year 1950-51 are: Harry Nangle, Virgil Herrick, William Hurlbut, Jr., D. S. Lamm, Joe Ruddick, Abe Silverman, Kenneth U. Love, Paul Hausman, Damon Hieronymus, J. B. Brunkhorst, J. M. Grayston, E. W. Thompson, George Routsong and Neal Rayburn.

Truman Casts Vote Today In Home Town

Immediately After Took Plane Back To Washington

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(P)—President Truman returned to Washington today after voting at his home town of Independence, Mo. The President's plane landed at National airport at 2:24 p. m. (EST), a half hour ahead of schedule.

He was met at the airport by Secretary of State Acheson, with whom he conferred by telephone yesterday on the critical turn of events in Korea.

By Ernest B. Vaccaro

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., Nov. 7.—(P)—President Truman voted in his home town today before flying back to Washington for a cruise aboard his yacht.

He voted the "straight Democratic ticket" and said he was so sure of the party's success he doesn't even plan to stay up late tonight.

Mr. Truman told reporters he hasn't decided yet whether to call congress back into session ahead of its scheduled Nov. 27 meeting date.

He said he will board the yacht, Williamsburg, for a cruise in Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac river later in the day after reaching Washington in his plane, the "Independence."

On the way from Independence to the municipal airport in Kansas City, one of the police escorts, Cpl. John Keister, skidded on his motorcycle and fell beneath a parked car. Mr. Truman had his car stopped to see how badly the policeman was injured. Keister was shaken up and bruised, but was not hurt seriously.

"I'm going to get some sleep just as I did in 1948 because I know it's going to come out all right," the president told newsmen who watched him vote in the seventh precinct of Blue township.

The Memorial building gymnasium had three beaver board votes.

Sedalians Visit With President

Dr. and Mrs. D. P. Dyer and Mrs. Frank Monroe were in Kansas City Monday, and while there visited that morning with the President of the United States, Harry S. Truman in the presidential suite of the Hotel Muehlebach.

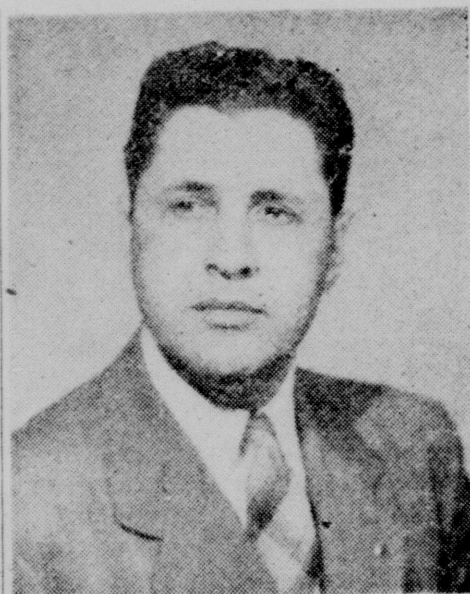

The Sedalians went to Kansas City with Mrs. Lucile Jones who has been visiting here and who took a plane from Kansas City to Houston, Tex., where she will visit relatives before going to her home in Van Nuys, Calif.

While in the hotel the Sedalians talked with Secret Service men and one of them phoned the President's suite and told the Chief Executive that they were downstairs. He instructed them to come up immediately. They had a pleasant visit of about 10 minutes. Mr. Truman asked about Mr. Monroe in particular since they have been close personal friends for many years.

The party from Sedalia said that the President looked fine and is apparently in the best of health.

Council Holds Short Session

The Sedalia City Council held a short meeting Monday night in which the roll was called, the minutes of the last session were read and the monthly bills were approved. The council then recessed to reconvene next Monday night.

A. W. Haller

One of the jobs of the new officers chairman and Mr. Haller has made the appointment of Mrs. Ike Warren. He plans to make an appointment at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet on November 21, the chairman of the various divisions of the chamber.

Fairly Good Vote Is Cast Here

Voting, despite a light rain that fell most of the day, was considered fairly good in all precincts in the county, the middle of the afternoon. The trend of the voting, of course, is not made known, but both the Democratic and Republican parties are hopeful of coming through with the greatest number of winners.

First Rainfall Here Since On October 7

The rainfall this morning measured .24 inch, which ordinarily doesn't seem like very much, but right now is quite a little rain. This is the first time it has rained since October 7, and then there was only .07 inch. The total rainfall for the entire month of October was .22 inch, which is .02 inch less than the amount which fell today.

Second Tragic Death To Sons Of Mrs. Lilly

C. M. Jordon, Jr., Killed By Train At Lawrence, Kas.

C. M. Jordon, Jr., 21 years old, son of Mrs. Oliver Lilly, route 2, Sedalia and C. M. Jordon, Sr., of Winslow, Ariz., was killed at 6:30 o'clock Monday night by a train at Lawrence, Kas.

Jordon, who was a mail clerk on the Union Pacific railroad, was hit as he stepped out of a railroad mail car in front of the train.

This is the second tragic death in the family in less than a year. His brother, Melvin (Bubby Joe) Jordon, was fatally injured in an altercation about a year ago with a driver of a taxicab.

Surviving are his mother, father, one half brother, J. L. Lilly, Sedalia, two sisters, Mrs. Ralph Nicholas and Mrs. Donna Stevens, Sedalia.

Formerly In Army

Mr. Jordon was born in Kansas City but had lived most of his life in Sedalia. He entered service at the age of 17 and served one year in the Naval Reserves and three years in the Army, part of which was in Puerto Rico. His brother, had also been in service going in at the age of 16.

Funeral arrangements have not been made awaiting word from his father.

Heads Printers

William A. Burton, 241 South Quincy avenue, was recently elected president of the Missouri Typographical Conference at the annual meeting held in Joplin. He is a linotype operator at the Democrat-Capitol office.

Prices Upturn May Bring On Early Control

Korean Crisis At Stage For An Inflation Move

By Rader Winget
(For Sam Dawson)

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(P)—Commodity prices soaring with the spread of the Korean war focus attention on the belief of some that a dangerous flare-up in inflation is more likely now than at any time since the end of World War II.

But the machinery and the will to control such severe economic distress are at peak strength. The government has a complete list of anti-inflation weapons, and today's elections clear the way for their unrestricted use without fear that the cry of "politics" will be raised.

Inflation is sometimes so deceptive that it escapes attention until it damages some part of the national economy. And history shows that inflation always has persuasive advocates.

Inflation in its simplest form is abnormally high prices for goods and services. Almost everyone wants a high price for his own merchandise or the service he sells.

The danger comes when prices skyrocket in response to possible shortages or as the result of panic buying or hoarding.

Then money loses its value in the eyes of the people and there is a stampede to unload money for goods before money itself becomes worthless.

Headed Up Again

Every G.I. overseas remembers when at some time or other his money was worthless in trading with local people, but his cigarettes and chocolate were as good as gold in the market place.

Since the end of World War II there have been several starts toward deflation with prices turning downward. But in every case they have headed up again in the familiar inflationary manner.

The latest see-saw in the inflation-deflation tug of war came with imposition of credit controls on installment buying and housing. There were loud outcries from many that buying was throttled.

Governor M. S. Szymczak of the Federal Reserve Board said: "That is exactly what these regulations should do if they are to accomplish their purpose." He made the statement at a Chicago bankers' meeting.

But at the same time Szymczak said regulatory measures so far taken by the board have not broken the momentum of inflation. From the tone of the speech some observers conclude that the Federal Reserve will tighten credit still further in order to head off direct dealings in wages and prices, which the board dislikes.

The F. W. Dodge Corp. today takes a look at the future through the opinion of 106 economists. The majority anticipate a moderate increase in the cost of living in the first half of 1951.

And the labor publication "C.I.O. Economic Outlook" springs the cost of living next spring will reach the highest point since the last war.

Critical Situation Over Chinese Reds Into Korea

By Dewitt MacKenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Chinese Communists, in open defiance of Lake Success, have invaded Korea and attacked forces fighting under the flag of the United Nations. This has been officially confirmed by General MacArthur in a special report.

The situation is tense—one of the most critical moments since the end of World War II.

The United States has called for a special meeting of the U. N. Security Council tomorrow to consider this fresh crisis.

If further proof were needed that China is acting with the blessings of Russia, it could be found in an amazing official speech delivered in Moscow last night by deputy Premier Bulganin, one of Russia's great personalities.

Bulganin singled out Communist China for special praise. He declared that Korea has "become the banner of all oppressed peoples fighting for liberation" and hinted that the tide may turn there.

He asserted that the Koreans had suffered a measure of defeat because America had flung into the fight all its far eastern forces, and some other countries.

Poses Dangerous Problem

This is an uncomfortable moment for at least some of the score of nations which rushed in and extended diplomatic recognition to the Chinese Communist government in Peking. There can be no doubt that the regime got great encouragement from

Election Returns Will Be Posted

Results in the general election being held today will be posted tonight in the front office windows of the Sedalia Democrat and Capital building as rapidly as tabulations can be completed.

The Associated Press will have the progress of the voting in the various states and the newspapers have a special election wire set up to receive them from Missouri as well as throughout the entire United States.

The county vote will also be bulletined from time to time from the forty-six precincts in the county.

C. A. Brown Be Secretary of C. of C. Here

Comes From Abilene, Kas., To Take Duties In December

Chester A. Brown, manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Abilene, Kas., was selected as the new secretary-manager of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce at a meeting of the board Monday afternoon at Bothwell hotel. He will succeed John F. Zander, who recently resigned to enter his own business.

Mr. Brown is 39 years old, married and has two children, a son 11 years and a daughter, seven years old.

Receiving his AB degree from the Kansas Wesleyan university, Salina, Kas., in 1938, he has had 13 years administrative experience in public schools, owned and operated his own business for six years in Abilene after which he went into the Chamber of Commerce work where he served as manager.

Experienced In Work

In civic affairs prior to becoming manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Abilene Brown served as president of the Abilene Junior Chamber of Commerce, a member of the board of directors, was president of the Abilene Rotary club 1949-50, served on the directors of the Abilene Country club, on the board of the directors of the Community Concert Association, and is a member of the executive board of the State Chamber of Commerce.

In 1947 he received the Junior Chamber of Commerce distinguished service award as outstanding young man of the year in Abilene and is a trustee of General Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Foundation.

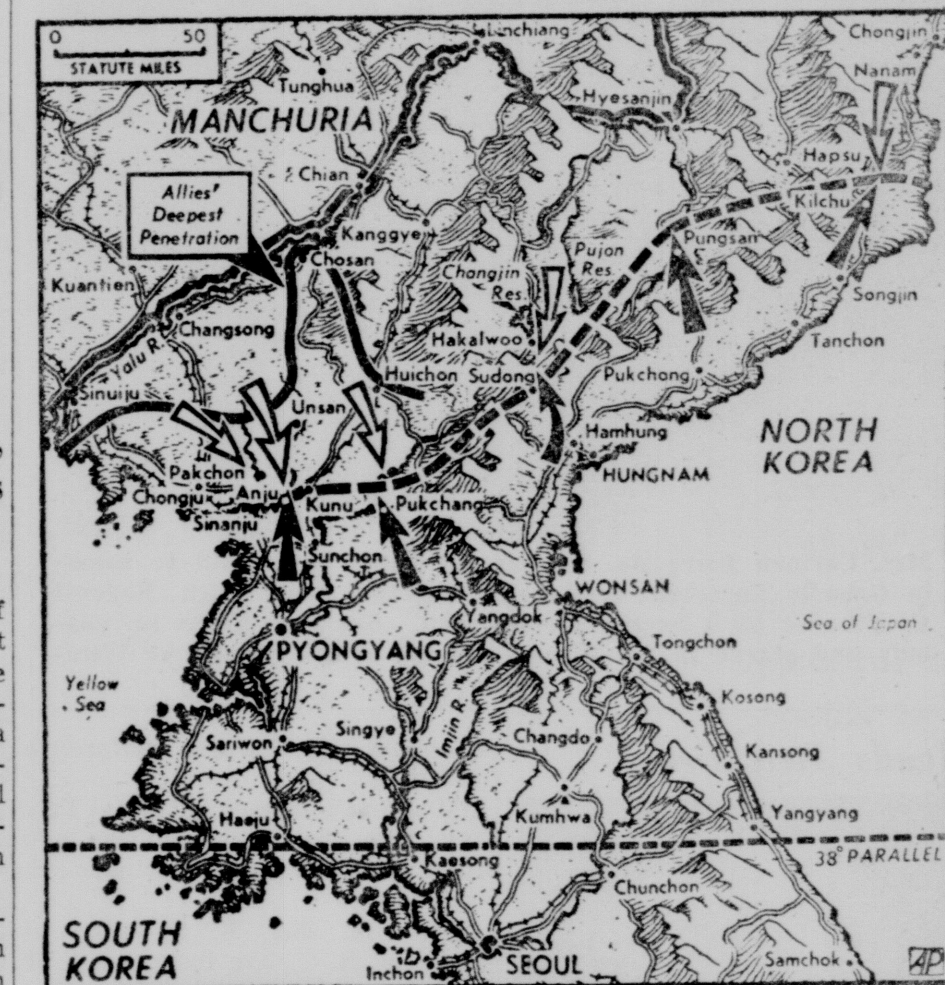

Mr. Brown comes to Sedalia highly recommended by the president of the Chamber of Commerce and the newspaper of Abilene as well as other prominent citizens of that city. He will assume his duties here sometime in December.

Damage Suit Filed Against J. C. Penney Co.

Mrs. Irene McBain filed a suit Monday in the office of Bryan Howe, Pettis county circuit clerk in which she seeks $5,000 damages from the J. C. Penney company for alleged injuries she sustained in a fall in front of the Penney store. She is represented by Wesner and Wesner.

Some of The Chinese Reds Withdraw From The Northwest Front

Battlefront Situation

As Gen. MacArthur accused the Reds of concentrating reinforcements in Manchuria, the gravest Communist threat to the U. S. battle line (broken line) in Korea was developing at Anju (large white arrow). In the north central section, Chinese Reds have stalled the Marines in their thrust on the Changning reservoir. In the northeast U. S. troops moved beyond Pungson, within 24 miles of the Manchurian border. Farther east South Koreans drove north of Kilchu. ## Special Week By Optimists

Observance Is To Start on Next Sunday, Nov. 12

The week beginning November 12 has been officially declared Optimist Week and will be observed by the 800 Optimist clubs in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Puerto Rico, according to Maurice Hogan, vice-president of the Sedalia Optimist club, who is acting in the place of President Pat Darnell, now serving as a major in the Air Corps of the armed forces of this country.

"This is our thirty-second annual observance," said Vice-President Hogan, "and we will treat each day as a separate event."

The Optimist club of Sedalia, which numbers 80 members, who are in various professional, business and trade groups, will have its regular meeting here on Tuesday noon at Bothwell hotel.

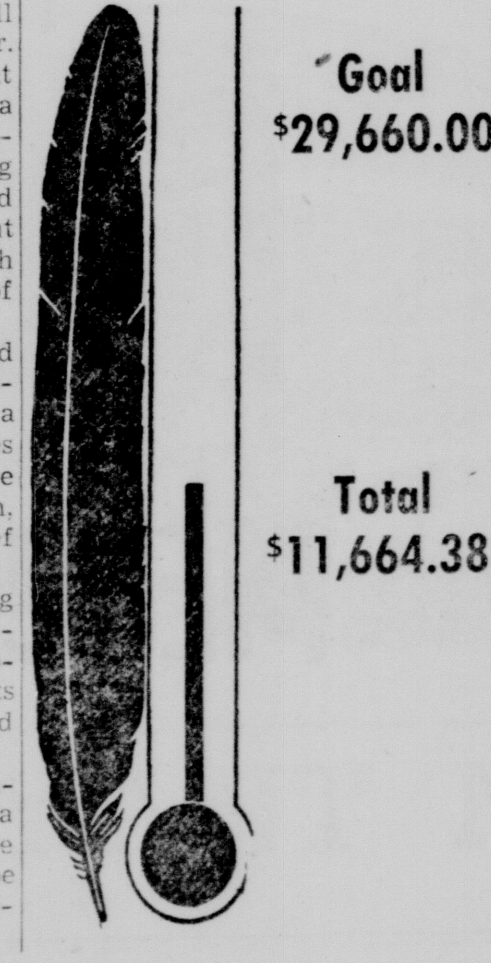

Designate Special Days

The series of observances will begin with Sunday as "Optimism and Spiritual Evaluation," Monday as "Community" day, Tuesday as "Education" day, Wednesday as "Better Leadership" day, Thursday as "Family" day, Friday as "Recreation" day and Saturday will observe "Optimism as a Philosophy of Life."

"Special activities are planned for each of the days during Optimist Week," said Vice-President Hogan. "We like the work we are doing and we like our community."

asserted the Optimist club official, "and we intend to make this a rousing week and invite the entire community to join with us."

Charge Effort To Force Strike

Phone Service Is Normal After A Bitter Dispute

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—(P)—Unfair labor practices were filed today against the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in behalf of 43 union employees as a result of a dispute between the utility and the CIO communications workers.

Similar complaints were filed yesterday in behalf of four other suspended employees. About 51 employees had been suspended yesterday and today for refusal to handle supplies from Western Electric Co., against which other members of the union here are striking.

The complaints filed with the National Labor Relations Board charged the company's action in taking the employees off its payroll interfered with their rights as guaranteed by law.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—(P)—Telephone service was normal in St. Louis today despite continuation of a union-company squabble that led to a two-day walkout of some 5,000 Southwestern Bell employees in the city late last week.

The bitter dispute led last night to charges by the CIO Communications Workers that the utility was trying to force an election-day strike to help Republican Senator Forrest C. Donnell of Missouri in his bid for re-election.

The company called the charges absurd.

Frank P. Lonergan, vice president of Division 20 of the CWA, which represents some 50,000 Southwestern Bell employees in five states, said the union was making every effort to keep the workers on the job.

"But it's going to be hard in the face of the company's plan," Lonergan said. "The company hoped to have us out on election day. They figured it might help Donnell and that the public might react in their favor."

Informed of the union charges, a company spokesman said "Are you serious?"

Donnell is a supporter of the Taft-Hartley act, and organized

Meet Russia On Proper Terms

PARIS, Nov. 7.—(P)—The Big Three western powers will willingly meet Russia for four-power talks, but only if it covers all the world's trouble spots, not merely Germany, a highly placed French source said tonight.

He explained that the United States, Britain and France will neither flatly accept nor flatly reject the latest Russian proposal for four-power talks.

Russia's proposal was for a four-power conversation on reunification of Germany.

Two of 24th U. S. Division Move Up In Pakchon Area Near Anju

SEOUL, Nov. 7.—(P)—United Nations forces expanded their slim bridgehead north of the Chongchon river today as some Communists mysteriously withdrew on the northwest Korean warfront.

Two U. S. 24th Division regiments and the British Commonwealth Brigade moved ahead two and one-fourth miles after a heavy air bombing in the Pakchon area northwest of the bridgehead at Anju. There was little opposition on this front although Red concentrations had applied heavy pressure at last Monday.

U. S. propeller-driven Mustang fighters routed speedier Russian-built jets in an 85-minute air battle—longest of the war—over Sinuiju just across the Yalu river from Manchuria. Three of the Red jets were reported hit. Spokesmen said no U. S. planes were lost.

In the north-central sector, Chinese Red resistance eased suddenly in front of U. S. Marines driving through frigid mountain passes toward the Changjin reservoir.

Stalled Four Days

The Marines laid off Seventh Regiment, virtually stalled four days by the stiff Red Chinese defense, moved almost a mile up a twisting river gorge and seized a towering 4,000 foot ridge. This was the dominating point south of the reservoir, 36 miles northwest of Hamhung.

But Communist resistance mounted in one northeast sector. A U. S. Seventh Division combat patrol north of Pungson reported it was under attack "by a hell of a lot of North Koreans."

The patrol was on the north bank of the Ungi river. Carrier-borne Marine Corsairs flew in to give air support.

This was the first serious opposition in three days for the division's 17th regimental combat team. It is driving north in zero weather within less than 30 miles of the Ma. Yurian border.

In the Pakchon area advance, Australian units on the left flank met the only notable resistance when they routed 100 Red soldiers.

Changed Their Garb

U. S. First Cavalry Division troops reported they had seen Chinese troops change into civilian clothing and loiter around in villages during the day while Allied planes buzzed overhead.

Communist dead with reversible uniforms were found in the Anju-Kunu area. The uniforms were grey-green on one side, civilian white on the other.

Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers and light bombers rocketed, strafed and bombed all along the front and as far north as Kanggye, the Reds' front-command center.

Tokchon, northeast of Anju, was hit hard.

The Air Force said 600 enemy troops were killed, two tanks, five artillery pieces, 43 vehicles and six supply buildings destroyed.

Allied officers were perplexed at the Chinese withdrawal in an area where they had forced U. N. troops back as much as 50 miles. They speculated the Chinese either were regrouping for a large-scale attack or were deploying new lines.

In the latter event, officers said, it was possible the Chinese only intended to hold a buffer area guarding the Yalu river hydro-electric power grid, vital to Manchurian industry.

Thought for Today

Without understanding, covenant-breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful.—Romans 1:31.

Christopher Still Holds Money In Bet

Armstrong Contends He Won The Bet And Offers Proof

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. Nov. 7—(P)—Its election eve and the $100 question in the Sixth congressional district campaign hasn't been answered.

The question is just what happened in the Senate last June 26. Rep. George Christopher, Democrat, said it was "this way." His Republican opponent, O. K. Armstrong, says it was "that way."

Publicly the controversy had just about overshadowed everything else the candidates have had to say in the campaign. The names of President, Truman Vice-President Barkley and numerous senators have been brought into it.

It began this way:

During a debate between the two candidates Rep. Christopher charged that 32 Republicans and three Democrats voted last June 26 in such a way as to kill the Commodity Credit Corporation had not Vice-President Barkley voted to break a 35-35 tie.

Christopher offered Armstrong a $100 reward if he could prove him wrong. Armstrong accepted the challenge.

Armstrong claimed the vote of June 26 in the Senate was not on the two billion dollar extension of credit to the CCC, but on an amendment to the bill dealing with imports of foreign agricultural products.

Several days later Armstrong cited the Congressional Record in support of his version and asked Christopher to pay up.

Christopher said Armstrong was wrong.

Could Go To Senate-House

Armstrong contends that had the conference report been defeated it merely would have gone back to a Senate-House conference committee for further action.

He claims he has telegrams from about half the senators present on June 26, agreeing with his version. Among them, he said were Senators Warren Magnuson of Washington, and Wayne Morse of Oregon, co-authors of amendment to the bill, and Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, a member of the Senate appropriations committee.

As of last night, Christopher still has the $100.

Armstrong says if he gets it, he'll split it between the Springfield Community Chest and the Marine Corps League.

Sorosis members were mystified at the subject chosen by Dr. J. L. Zwigle, president of Park college, Parkville, Mo., Monday afternoon at the Heard Memorial Club House. Probably no one at the meeting guessed who the "Unacknowledged Legislators" on whom he was to speak really were and were surprised to learn that Dr. Zwigle's talk was on poets.

Dr. Zwigle quoted Shelly, "Poets are the unacknowledged legislators of the world" and from that quotation had come his subject.

If you try to trace the source of every great thought and every great idea, said Dr. Zwigle, you will find that it was coined somewhere by a poet. Poets, he continued, were originally philosophers.

It is the poet who conceives what is to be made into law for laws are rarely passed until people feel the basic necessity for it, the speaker said. Poetry, he pointed out, is the insight which crystallizes a feeling or thought and gives it meaning.

Art in general is a game, Dr. Zwigle said, whether it be in the form of music, painting or literature. He quoted Aristotle as saying the most painful thing to a human being is thought. People do not like to think for themselves, Dr. Zwigle said, it is easier to follow habit, custom or the other fellow. The poet, he said, tries to tease the reader into believing what he has to say. He may present his picture, his ideas, or a whole lifetime even, in only a few lines.

Poets, Dr. Zwigle said, achieve their aim by virtue of playing a game and those who get anything out of poetry must play the game, too, just as in painting and music. The poet, however, he said, is at a disadvantage, because the painting may be hung where people must look at it and with music everywhere they must listen to the music, but the poet, who was the original musician, chanting his poetry, is now at the tail end of the artists and needs more missionaries to sing his praises, Dr. Zwigle said.

Poetry, to be best appreciated, the speaker said, should be read aloud, and it is the contents of the poem that matter most. The best poems are the simplest, the easiest read but they leave a thought, a picture, stir a feeling within the reader. Dr. Zwigle said and quoted several short poems to illustrate his meaning.

Showing how poets make their points, Dr. Zwigle read poems depicting character, moods and musical effects. Creative writing may be done anywhere, the speaker pointed out, and under any circumstances, for some of the best poems and other literary works have been written in jails.

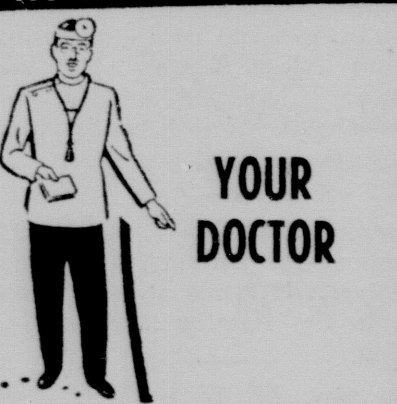

He spoke of the number of poems written on old age and commented that he didn't know exactly how one got from the younger generation to the older generation but he had decided that when a person stopped wondering why the older generation does the way they do and began to wonder why the younger generation does the way they do, that they had somehow, somewhere crossed the line into the older generation.

Why so much bad poetry gets by and so much good poetry doesn't, Dr. Zwigle said he didn't know, but some very bad poetry with rhythm does get by. Good poetry, the speaker explained, should be constant, should express some thought and should have rhythm, it does not necessarily.

Blessed Relief from Cramp Pains

Scores of happy girls and women are finding that when they take Cardui each month they get blessed relief they never knew before, from functional periodic pains. That's because unlike pain-deadening drugs, pills and tablets, Cardui helps correct painful contractions of the organ muscles and thus helps Nature resume a more normal rhythm. In this way it actually aids in overcoming a frequent cause of painful cramps. If your pains are due to simple functional disturbances—don't wait—ask for a bottle of Cardui. You'll bless the day you first tried this tested relief.

Pot Luck Dinner And a Movie

A pot luck dinner will be held in the Service building of the Broadway Presbyterian church on Wednesday at 6:30 p. m. to which all members and friends are invited. Following the dinner the film "Second Chance" will be shown.

"Second Chance" is among the first feature motion pictures made by the church for church use. Combining the technical skill of Hollywood, the highest calibre acting yet seen in religious films and an original story by Faith Baldwin, it tells of the ways men and women miss the best things of life by fixing their aim on what is second best. With "Second Chance" the religious screen has finally come alive. The film is top flight entertainment leading to full fledged faith! It is so true to life you will see yourself mirrored on the screen. In the film Emily Dean wishes desperately for a second chance, for more time to redirect her life.

HST Doesn't Like To Lose At Poker;

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON—One of the unwritten and unknown incidents of the Wake island conference is what General Harry Vaughan said to General Douglas MacArthur, who once fired him.

In the early stages of the war, Vaughan, then a colonel, was provost marshal in Brisbane, Australia, when MacArthur yanked him out of the job and sent him back to the U.S.A.

Perhaps this was a lucky break for Vaughan since he then attached himself to the Truman committee, later became aide to the vice president (though most vice presidents don't have aides) and now basks at the feet of the mighty.

However, there has been no love lost between Vaughan and MacArthur since, and apparently President Truman was quite aware of this on the Wake island fling.

While playing poker en route home, the be-medaled military aide raked in a couple of good pots at Truman's expense, and the President finally got a little peeved.

"Clip me again, you so-and-so," he snapped, "and I'll ship you back to General MacArthur for keeps."

Split Personality
Every so often, President Truman drops a remark indicating that he considers himself a split personality—that there is a difference between Harry Truman, the poker-playing ex-haberdasher and Harry Truman, the President of the United States.

Apparently he feels that he can draw a sort of curtain on his official daytime duties and lapse into another personality at night when he relaxes with Harry Vaughan and General Wallace Graham over bourbon and branchwater.

A clue regarding this split personality accidentally dropped the other day when Mr. Truman was talking to a senatorial friend who had come to urge that he confer with Stalin.

The President listened attentively as the Senator urged that no one wants war and that Russia by this time knows we mean business and will not be bullied. "Why don't you arrange to meet Stalin at some neutral place like Berlin or Teheran?" the Senator urged.

That familiar stubborn look immediately blazed in Truman's eyes.

"Let him come to Washington," he said indignantly. "It's time that so-and-so showed some respect for the United States. I'm tired of being treated like Harry Truman instead of the President of the United States. If he has anything to say to me, he can come here."

Stassen to Moscow
Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was campaigning in that state shortly after his fellow Minnesotan Harold Stassen had proposed that he go to Moscow to confer with Stalin. With Humphrey was Orville Freeman and Congressman John Blatnik, who asked:

"I wonder what would happen, Hubert, if you or I wrote a letter to Stalin suggesting that we come to Moscow for a conference. The press would go wild denouncing us. But it's all right if Stassen does it."

"They'd even go wild if Secretary Acheson or President Truman did it," concluded Humphrey.

That conversation may have inspired Humphrey to get off the following punch line in a speech that night.

"One day Stassen gets up and shouts 'Send the atom bomb to Moscow,'" proclaimed Humphrey, "next day he's back with 'hold the bomb—send Harold Stassen to Moscow!'"

Campaign Funds

Latest tabulation of political contributions filed with the clerk of the House of Representatives shows some interesting donations. Here are some of them: Tom Watson, head of international business machines, is hedging his bets. Though he is Eisenhower's biggest backstage backer, he also put up $2,000 for the Democrats this trip. . . . Biggest GOP contributor, as usual, was the Du Pont family of Delaware with $16,000 placed in the Republican kitty. . . . Biggest Democratic source of revenue were the Jackson day dinners. The Washington, D.C., dinner raised $305,000. . . . Other big Democratic contributors were Woodrow Wilson's ambassador to Germany, James W. Gerald, and his wife, $10,000; Averell Harriman, $5,000; Henry Morgenthau, $5,000; the Hollywood Schencks (Nic, Joe and Pansy) $8,000; Marshall Field, $2,000; Sam Goldwyn, $1,000; Robert Young of the Chesapeake and Ohio (a Republican) $1,000; and "Call Me Madam" Perle Mesta, U.S. minister to Luxembourg, $1,000.

Mrs. Roosevelt gave $100 to the Democratic party, but only three cabinet members are registered as contributors so far—Postmaster General Donaldson, $200; Secretary of State Acheson, $500; Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, $1,000. . . . White House aide Steve Spingarn, recently elevated to the Federal Trade Commission, gave $1,000; and so did Stanley Dollar of San Francisco, a Republican, now suing the U.S. government to recover the Dollar steamship line. Significantly, he gave to the Democrats.

Big Republican contributors were: Robert E. Wood of Sears-Roebuck, former head of America First, $15,000; Sewell Avery, head of Montgomery Ward, who once got carried out of his office by U.S. troops, $15,000; John A. Hartford, head of the A & P grocery stores who faces a big anti-trust suit, $3,000; and three big Chicago meat packers, a total of $4,200—E. A. Cudahy, Thomas E. Wilson and the Swift family. . . . C. K. Boettcher, the Denver financier, came through with $1,000 for the GOP; Erskine R. Myer, another Denverite, $2,000; the Pittsburgh Mellon family of Gulf Oil and the Aluminum Corporation, $2,000; and Jack Chrysler of the automobile family, $1,000. . . . Other Republican contributors of $1,000 each were Roger Strauss, the New York financier, and great friend of Tom Dewey's; Mrs. Jacob France of Baltimore, whose husband was once Senator from Maryland; and Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton, Pa.

The Dems collected $1,000 each from George Luckey, the California cattle rancher; ex-Ambassador Joe Davies; Mrs. Stanley Woodward, whose husband got the prize post of ambassador to Canada; David K. E. Bruce, the American ambassador to France; and Morris Cafritz, the big Washington real estate dealer. (In the last election Morris and his wife bet on the Republicans to the tune of $2,000). . . . Another interesting $1,000 contributor to the Dems was Milton Kronheim, the big liquor dealer and great friend of General Vaughan's whose son has been made a municipal judge (incidentally doing a good job). . . . Hollywood singer Phil Regan and his wife gave the Dems $3,500 though he usually consorts with the Republicans; while Rosalie Bloomingdale of the New York department store and Angier Biddle Duke of the American embassy in Buenos Aires each put up $3,000 to the Democrats.

Asiates Should Think Twice Before Bitter Attacks on U. S.

By Bruce Blossart

About a month ago at a place called Lucknow in India an international conference of Asiatics, Americans, British and Canadians was held. It deserves more attention than it got.

Probably the most striking thing about this meeting was the bitterness shown by Indian and Pakistani delegates toward the United States. Reports of their vehement criticisms are still filtering back.

Charges were made, for example, that the U. S. puts no value on Asiatic life, because it dropped atomic bombs on Japan in 1945 and more recently bombed North Korean cities.

At another point, Indians asked why this country didn't just go ahead and "give Russia the warm water port she needs."

If many Indians think this way, it becomes clearer why Prime Minister Nehru has so frequently seemed to be giving a boost to Russian communism at the expense of the West.

No one needs to be reminded how large India and Pakistan bulk in the Asiatic picture. If we are to have sound, lasting relations with the Far Eastern nations, we must find a basis for understanding with these people. We must be willing to accept criticism and to mold policy in a way that fits the Asiatics' nature.

But this same responsibility is upon them. The impassioned charges delivered against us at Lucknow go far beyond understandable resentment at the long suppression of Asiatic liberties under western colonial regimes. The Indians and Pakistani are blindly flailing at America to excuse themselves for their own shortcomings.

They want the U. S. to "prove itself" by being steadily on the side of social progress. We can't complain about this. But they've got a lot to do for themselves socially and economically before they can fairly lay the blame for their troubles at our door.

They also want American economic aid extended with no strings attached. They're fully justified in not wanting help which would simply benefit foreign investors; they had enough of that kind of aid before.

But we have a perfect right to ask for assurances that any aid granted will achieve the desired objective. We must know our money is being well spent, for the world situation compels us to hand out so much in so many different areas that we can't afford to toss it freely down a well.

Thus far the Asiatics have been slow to admit that in their concentration upon getting liberty they have generally failed to prepare for the responsibilities that go with liberty. To expect us to hand money unquestioningly to often inept and sometimes corrupt politicians is unreasonable and unfair.

Only fierce, blinding emotions could lead these Asiatics to suggest that we appease Russia by offering her warm water ports (or anything else). Only a similar frenzy could make them say we value Asiatic life cheaply.

In war, all life is cheap. Did the French say we valued European life cheaply because we bombed Nazi-held French cities in World War II? The offense is not the bombing of cities, with A-bombs or any other. It's in starting wars. One may fairly ask the Indians: "Who started World War II? And who invaded South Korea?"

It's all very well for Asiatics to remind us of our own failings. We need to hear it. But they'd beter begin looking for the answers to many of their own problems.

E. STANLEY JONES

Acts 14:22—23; I Cor. 1:2; Heb. 2:11—12

THE CHURCH—THE MOTHER OF MOVEMENTS

We gather up some concluding meditations on the Church. 9. The Church has been and is the mother of movements. It is a creative society. It gave birth to the arts, to education, to reform, to missionary movements, to democracy. Democracy is a child of the Christian faith. Rhode Island gave to the world democracy, and Christian thinking gave democracy to Rhode Island. The Baptists and the Quakers thought thoughts of God as Father, then of men as brothers, and then of democracy as expressing that equalitarian attitude in government. Democracy is founded on a view of God, and hence of man, and hence of government. "Democracy," says Thomas Mann, "is the political expression of Christianity." If the root of democracy decays, the fruit will die.

10. The denomination is not the Church. The Church is bigger than the denomination. I stood on top of a hill overlooking a valley. Here and there I could see isolated ponds of water. But they were not isolated ponds; they were portions of one winding river, only parts of which I could see at one time. The denominations are parts of a continuous river—the Church. The Church is bigger than the denominations. To think that we have roped off the grace of God and confined it within our denomination is as absurd as to say that the areas roped off for swimmers on the seabeaches are the ocean.

11. As the denomination is not the Church, so the Church is not the Kingdom. The Church contains the best life of the Kingdom, but is not synonymous with the Kingdom. It is a means to the ends of the Kingdom, and not an end in itself. It must lose its life for Kingdom ends and then it will find itself.

12. The primary function of the Church is the workshop of God. Here men get in living contact with God, the Eternal, in order to meet Time, the fleeting. Here men pause and have "the signed ring of Eternity stamped on the fleeting moments of Time."

Out of that worship of God impulses and movements spring for the service of man.

Gracious Father, in Thy house I learn to live simultaneously in time and in eternity. There I know I am the child of an Eternal Purpose, and the harbinger of an Eternal Destiny. I am no longer cheap. Nor can I be given to cheap ends. Help me to hold my bosom clear for the working out of Thy Eternal Purposes. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Q. and A.

You and the Service

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—

Q. My boy was recently sent to an Army training camp. Is it true that they are not sending any more lads to combat zones?

A. No. The Army is not saying where it will or will not send men.

Q. My oldest son was killed in World War II. My only other son was reported missing in action in Korea but was found all right and is now in Japan. I understand that sole surviving sons will be let out of the Army. If this is true, to whom do I write?

A. Sole surviving sons will be kept out of combat, but are not being discharged. If you want to request that your son be kept from any more action write to the Adjutant General of the Army, Washington 25, D. C.

Q. I am a college graduate with a degree in electrical engineering. But I have had a bad knee and have been classified 4-F. Is there any way I can enlist for limited service?

A. All men who enlist or are inducted must be physically qualified for full military service.

Q. Just how does the wife of a serviceman, or a serviceman go about getting protection against foreclosures and other legal actions on debts which he is unable to pay because of going into the service?

A. Under the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act the courts are instructed to help make arrangements to protect servicemen against damages resulting from the action of creditors. All of the services will provide legal aid to men who need it for this purpose. Most local bar associations provide free legal advice, too. And a person can go direct to a court and ask for aid in connection with the act.

Some correspondents ask very good questions but which prove most difficult to answer. The first of today's questions is that kind.

Q—Is it true all babies are born with an enlarged thymus gland? Can such an enlarged gland cause death? If so, is it possible by X-ray to determine if the gland is enlarged to such an extent as to cause trouble?

Mrs. J. T. A—There have been many careful studies made of this subject, but there is still a good deal of difference of opinion about it. Probably, an enlarged thymus can cause death in infants or small children but only under certain circumstances. In many hospitals it is customary to X-ray the thymus of small children before they are subjected to an operation in order to determine whether or not the thymus is dangerously enlarged.

Q—I am a girl 15 years old and get dizzy and car sick whenever I ride in an automobile. Can anything be done about this? G. C.

A—Many people get complete or partial relief from motion sickness by taking one of the anti-histamines called Dramamine. You could ask your doctor about this.

Q—I have a small piece of needle in my finger. Is there any danger that it might travel to other parts of the body? If so,

HE CAME TO KILL

by ADELINE McELFRESH
Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: When Aunt Maggie Thorne is murdered, suspicion points to Peter, her nephew, who arrived home on the eve of the crime. Then there is an attempt to kill Maggie's sister, Agatha. No one, not even Peter's brother Jasper, nor Jasper's wife Sondra, seems to be telling all he knows. After the inquest, Leana, the victim's grandniece, believes Peter is following her to kill her, but Deputy Sheriff Mart Preston arrives at the opportune moment. Later the housekeeper, Cynthia Carstairs, tells Leana of Peter's attempt to borrow a master key on the night of the crime and how Peter bribed her to forget his request. Next Peter surprises Leana in the act of spying on him through the transom of his door.

XX
TERRIFIED, and as though hypnotized by the leashed anger in Peter's eyes, Leana stepped off the chair. She would not go into that room! She backed away, but Peter was quicker. Fingers closed about her wrist. "Don't be a fool!" he hissed. "If I wanted to kill you—" He broke off, shrugging. His hands fell away from her wrist. "Go if you like, Leana, but I'd like to talk to you." Leana stepped past him into the room. Peter followed her, stood for a moment with his hand on the knob, and closed the door. Then, smiling faintly, he handed the key to her.

"I'm not afraid of you, Peter. Keep your key."

He put it on the bureau and returned to stand beside her. "So you're not afraid of me?" he said thoughtfully. "But you think I killed Aunt Margaret, tried to kill Aunt Agatha—and you."

"I didn't say that."

"You don't have to say it." He was looking at her steadily, his face carefully expressionless. Leana fought to subdue the rising fear; it mustn't show.

She forced a smile. "Don't be silly, Peter. Mart sent me to find you. He wants to—talk things over with you. He knows I'm here."

"Does he?" Peter shook his head. "It's no go, Leana. I told you once your fear showed all over you—remember? Well, it still does. You were spying on me. You wanted to search my room to find evidence that would convict me. Well—" he gestured broadly—"go on. Search."

He seated himself on a straight chair by the door, nodded toward the bureau and said: "You might begin there."

***

SUDDENLY infuriated that he should treat her so childishly, Leana yanked open the top bureau drawer. Socks were there, meticulously arranged according to color. So were handkerchiefs. She went on to the other drawers. Let Peter Thorne laugh up the other sleeve if he thought she wouldn't search his confounded bureau! Her probing fingers encountered paper.

She went on with her methodical search, hoping that Peter's watchful eyes had not noted the momentary hesitation. She pushed the last drawer shut with an intentional bang.

"Don't think you've fooled me, cousin," he said soberly. "You found it, didn't you?"

Dismayed, Leana nodded. "And you're dying to tell your copper boyfriend. Or come back later, yourself." Peter had not moved a muscle. "I'll save you the trouble. Get the package."

Obediently, Leana took it from the drawer. When Peter said "Open it!" sternly, she did.

Gleaming with a million fires imprisoned in one large stone and half a dozen smaller ones ranged around it, was the lavalier—the Thorne family heirloom.

Leana stared at it. "But—but I thought Sondra—"

"Sondra," Peter said softly, "underestimated my contact with New York's off-color business world, my dear cousin. The old gent who let her have 25 C's recognized it—chiefly, I must admit, because I had pawned it once before—and called me. He knew Sondra from the old days, too. People like Sondra and me borrow on our baubles quite often."

Leana lifted her eyes reluctantly from Miss Aggie's jewel. It was hard to believe Peter ever had gone hungry. He looked much too suave.

She said, "Why didn't you come home?"

"And be dust under Aunt Margaret's feet—like Jasper? Oh, no, thank you, not me! Not," bitterly, "when there's a woods full of suckers in New York."

This is the Peter Thorne I hate, Leana thought, her fingers closing about the delicate gold chain of the lavalier. This is the Peter who could do murder—if it benefited him.

"Aunt Maggie wondered why you came this time. Even Sondra was surprised." Leana recalled Sondra's taunting greeting.

***

PETER stopped his pacing to stand beside her. "I've been talking far too much, but I'm trying to convince you I did not kill Aunt Margaret. I'm not quite sure, understand, but—" He hesitated; then, "I think, Leana, I know who did."

Leana held her breath. If only Mart were here! Or—anybody. She didn't want to be alone with Peter any longer. The burning intensity of his manner was terrifying.

"You won't believe me, cousin," he said, coming closer. "You won't think it possible—none of them will—but I—" He drew back. "Leana, did you hear something?" Leana didn't. She shook her head.

Peter sprang to the door, jerked it open. But the hall was empty. He came back, shaking his head. "Someone was there, listening! I heard him, I'm sure of it!"

Crossing swiftly to her side, he closed her fingers about the lavalier. "Keep it, Leana. When this is—over, give it to Aunt Agatha. Not before, understand?" Dumbfounded, she agreed.

"And don't go on suspecting me," he pleaded. "I—didn't have a chance to kill her. She was already dead when I went."

should it be removed? M. B. W.

A—Pieces of needle do sometimes travel to other parts of the body. This depends, however, on where it is located. Advice as to its removal could be given only after an X-ray has been made.

***

Q—I have pernicious anemia and have been taking liver shots and liver capsules. When I feel good I stop. Is there a cure for this disease? Mrs. J. D.

A—There is no permanent cure for pernicious anemia. You should not stop the treatments, however, merely when you feel better. In addition to liver, vitamin B-12 seems to be a very effective form of treatment.

Q—If one-half teaspoon of Epsom salts is taken regularly twice daily, does it affect the condition of the blood? S. M.

A—It probably will not affect the blood, but any cathartic is considered harmful to the digestive system if taken regularly. If at all possible it is best to regulate the bowels by diet.

Q—I have trouble with numb hands. They feel as though pins and needles were sticking into them. What can I do for this? Mrs. L. R.

A—There are several possible causes, one of which is pernicious anemia. You should have tests made and an accurate diagnosis before anyone can tell you what can be done for your unpleasant symptoms.

Q—Is there any harm in wearing rubber girdles all day for housework? Will they harm the kidneys or nerves in any way? Mrs. W. F. W.

A—If the girdle is properly fitted, is comfortable, and if there is no sensitiveness of the skin to rubber, there should be no harm to wearing them as much as desired.

***

Q—Would eating a lot of honey be harmful? Mrs. E. B.

A—No, unless diabetes was present or the person was allergic to honey.

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

George E. Cole, a foreman for the Midland Bridge company, of Kansas City, arrived and began preliminary work for the erection of the new viaduct on Washington avenue over the Missouri Pacific and M. K. and T. railroad tracks.

George Quisenberry, a young Sedalia, who has held a traveling position out of Kansas City, has accepted a position on the reportorial staff of the Kansas City Star.

Joseph and David Chasnoff, student at the University of Missouri, arrived home to cast their votes in the election Tuesday.

The Rev. Fr. B. R. McNamee, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church, was in Kansas City on business.

Emmett H. McClure, a former collector for Pettis county, arrived from Kansas City for a brief visit and goes from there to his home in Oklahoma.

Coby Bloch and bride, recently married in Cincinnati, Ohio, arrived to make this city their home advertisement. Yeah—if you keep up the payments.

There have been many contrasting influences that have affected the character of Tipton, Mo., and all have left a marked impression on the town and its populace.

The first to enter the territory was the settler. Those reaching Missouri were second and third generation frontiersmen and the difficulties of pioneer life were common with them. The other settlers, who came from the east and were exploiting new lands for the first time, found the life more rugged than they had expected, but their spirit of determination acted as the necessary stimulant for their final conquest of the territory.

These were the men who laid the foundation for those to follow. In 1858 the railroad was extended farther west and Tipton was chosen at the next stopping point. At the same time Irish immigrants were pouring into the country in an effort to escape the famine in Ireland, which began in 1849.

Irish Took Jobs

Many of these Irish laborers took jobs with the B and O railroad and as this contract ended they drifted westward to help on the expanding Missouri Pacific line. These men, many with families, moved into the region following the progress of the railroad. Many left the work crews and settled in communities along the way.

These Irishmen influenced the industrial life of Tipton and also had an effect on its religious growth. The Irish were primarily of Roman Catholic stock and due to their large number were instrumental in bringing the First Catholic Church to the town.

Following closely on the heels of the Irish were the German immigrants who swarmed to America in search of the rich lands spoken of by relatives and friends already in this country. This group gave the settlement a type of security it had failed to gain from the two preceding groups. The Germans, given over almost entirely to farming, bought land around Tipton and made the community their permanent home. They tilled the soil, sold their crops, spent and banked their money with local businesses.

Established in 1850

Tipton was established in the early 1850's on a small hill not far from the present town. At first the community chose the name of Round Hill, due to the geographic features of the town, but after the Pacific railroad entered the territory in 1858 the town was moved to the main line and renamed Tipton, honoring Tipton Sealey, the first settler. Sometime later branches of the railroad led from Tipton to Booneville and Versailles.

For several years Tipton was the western terminus of the Pacific railroad, later the Missouri Pacific, and consequently an important shipping center for livestock and farm products. Large cattle drives from as far west as Texas ended there.

From Texas and other western cattle states, the herds were driven over the trail and into Kansas City, Sedalia or Tipton. In Kansas City many steers were slaughtered and sent by boat to the east along the Missouri river route; but those that were received in Tipton were loaded in box cars and transported via rail to St. Louis and thence east.

Fewer Cattle Shipments

The railroad has continued to be an asset to the community, although now cattle shipments are fewer and many of these are handled by trucks. The railroad and highway connections in Tipton have made it an ideal location for industrial programs.

The outstanding manufacturer is the Tipton Manufacturing Company, an organization which employs over 200 persons and produces trousers and sport clothing. The company was formed by A. F. Martin in 1937 and since that time the factory has been in continued operation. Harry Kolker is the manager of the plant.

The Wesseling - Jordan Shoe Company located at Eldon, Mo., is planning on opening a factory in Tipton in the near future. The plant will begin producing as soon as the construction of the building has been completed.

There are two meat packing plants in Tipton, the A. C. Yontz Packing plant and the Miller Packing Company, owned by Leo Miller. Another industrial feature of the town is the Tipton Chick Hatchery, operated by Richard Schmidt.

In 1875 the first newspaper, a weekly publication known as the Missouri Mail, was started in Tipton. Not long after its founding the paper was renamed the Tipton Times, a name still used by the weekly. Now publishing the paper, which is printed each Friday, is E. N. Pizer and his daughter, Mrs. Thomas W. Miller.

Each year the paper turns out a magazine edition of the Times in which various feature stories, pictorial features and information on the Tri-County Fair are presented to the readers. This year was the ninth year such a feature has been offered to the readers of the Tipton Times.

Good School System

The Tipton school system is another prominent feature of the town. The public grade and high school and the parochial school have been assessed at $2,000,000.

Residents of three counties were attending the fourth annual Tri-County Fair held in Tipton on July 26 to 29 this year. Tipton, located in the extreme northwestern portion of Monticau county, is only a few miles from the boundary lines of the neighboring Cooper and Morgan counties. The fair is sponsored by the Tri-County Agricultural and Mechanical Society, Inc. and premiums awarded during the Fair are taken from funds donated by the merchants from nearby counties. The horse show premiums alone total over $1,500 for this year.

Baseball League

The Central Missouri Baseball League is active in the district and Tipton supplies a competitive team to the league. Games are played at the J. L. Thomas Field. Tipton's baseball park. The park is provided with bleachers, but no buildings have been placed on the land.

The town has a Lions club and an American Legion post, which is building a new home. A fourth class city with a population of 1200 Tipton leaves the administrative duties to the mayor, J. J. Brant, and his board of aldermen, made up of four men.

There is a fire station and truck in the town which is manned by a volunteer corps of firemen. A city marshal polices the community. There are five churches and a medical clinic under construction. This clinic is being opened by Dr. C. F. Luebbert. Not far from Tipton is the Missouri State Training School for Negro Girls.

The town recently passed on a bond issue which will allow the appropriation of $25,000 for the construction of a new city hall. The city owns its own water supply system and maintains a labor crew to repair the streets and sewerage system.

Historic Gleim Mansion

One of the few remaining historical landmarks in Tipton or the surrounding territory is the old Gleim mansion, now owned by the Maclay family. The impressive two story brick structure was completed in 1858. It was built by a Mr. and Mrs. Williams to serve as a private school for girls and while it was operating in this capacity the house was known as the Rose Hill Seminary.

The best families in the region considered enrollment in the school an essential feature of their daughter's education. The school was run quite successfully and without interruption until the Civil war. Then, like everything else in the region, the school was constantly disturbed by bands of soldiers.

A Legend

One recorded incident shows clearly the intensity of the fear the girls had of the soldiers. A story is told how the girls, before retiring each night, would place their school slates on the stairs leading to their rooms, believing that should the soldiers enter, the noise of the slates, breaking beneath their feet, would give the alarm. On one occasion the soldiers did raid the house, but no one was injured.

Later during the war General John C. Fremont, commander of the Union forces in Missouri, made his headquarters in the house. It was in 1865, at the end of the Civil strife, that the Gleim family of three unmarried brothers and five widowed sisters purchased the house. While living in the house

Progress On Water Lines At Lincoln

Water Tower Is Now Being Erected Under Bonds Issue

Soon after the estimated $90,000 property loss, caused by the fire which occurred in the business district of Lincoln, Mo., on the night of last January 19, a special election was held for the purpose of voting a $40,000 bond issue with which to construct a water system for the city.

Out of a possible 234 votes, 211 were cast for the proposal and only one against.

At another meeting held recently for the purpose of proposing an additional $5,000 bond issue with which to complete the system, which has been under construction for the past several weeks, a hearty approval was given by the large number of citizens attending.

The additional fund was made necessary due to the need for 1,200 feet more of pipe. The original plan calling for only 10,000 feet to be used.

Approximately 127 property owners signed to connect with the system, which is more than twice as many as had previously been estimated.

Progress in Work

The McLean Construction company of Springfield, with their 30 men employed to assist in the installing of the hydrants and water mains are making rapid progress in their work and hope to have the project completed very soon.

The Des Moines-Pittsburgh Steel company of Des Moines, Iowa, is now erecting the water tower which is a 50,000 gallon water tank.

The water for the system will be obtained from a 603 foot well which was drilled by the Layne-Western company of Kansas City last summer for that purpose.

Due to the rock formations, the water is not hard and the well which was tested under the supervision of L. N. Heckman of the Layne-Western company produced 120 gallons of water per minute for a period of two consecutive hours.

Following the meeting officers for the new fire department were elected.

They are as follows: Arthur Labahn, Jr., fire chief, and George Roak and Roland McCandles, assistants.

Others elected are: Sam Thomas, Clarence Frisch, Walter Davis, Amos Owens, Taylor Boring, John Reine, Irvin Davis, Carl Rambow, Theo. Fischer, Gene Nash and Robert Rambow.

Duane Ewing Is Still In Hospital

Duane Ewing, of the Ewing Funeral home, who suffered an injury to his left hand when it became caught in a piece of machinery on his farm recently, is still a patient at St. Luke's hospital, Kansas City. He is getting along satisfactorily, following amputation of part of the hand, but will remain at the hospital here for further treatment.

Early Balloting Is Heavy

watchers for law violations.

Truman Votes Straight

Out in Independence, Mo., President Truman was among the early voters. He cast his ballot in a gymnasium building shortly after 8:30 a. m. (CST).

"Did you vote the straight Democratic ticket?" A reporter asked him.

"Oh sure, what would you expect the president of the United States to do," he replied.

Hart's Location, New Hampshire, reported first in the usual election day race to see what precinct in the nation can be in front in recording its vote. The little railroad community had its ballots counted before 9 a. m. (EST) and gave both Democrats and Republicans a straw to grasp at.

Democrat Robert P. Bingham edged Republican Governor Adams, 5-4, although the community voted Republican 10 to one in 1948. On the other hand, Republican Senator Tobey got six votes to four for Democrat Emmett J. Kelley. When Tobey ran six years ago, he split 10 votes—5 to 5—with the Democratic candidate.

Quickly behind Hart's Landing came Browns Farm, Florida. It turned up 13 votes for Democrat George Smathers for Senator, one for Republican John Booth.

Weather Mostly Good

For most of the country, the weather was good. There were light showers early in the day from eastern Colorado to Iowa. Light snow, mixed with rain, fell in the Lake Superior region.

Predictions from national and state election officials pointed to a total vote of around 42,000,000. By comparison, the largest vote ever cast before in a non-presidential election year was 37,304,380 in 1933.

One state was not voting today in the congressional elections. Maine elected a Republican governor and three house members in September.

In many states, the contests were apparently so close that the crop of election forecasts was smaller than usual though Republicans talked hopefully of capturing both the House and Senate while the Democrats scoffed at that.

Republicans counted on last-hour voter reaction to the confused Korean war situation to help provide the impetus for the ballot surge they seemed to need to gain a net of seven seats in the Senate and 49 in the House for control of Congress.

Senator Knowland (R-Calif.) voiced one GOP viewpoint with a demand on Secretary of State Acheson yesterday for acceptance of a Chinese Nationalist offer—made in July—of 33,000 ground troops to fight the Communists in Korea.

Asserting that Chinese Communists had invaded Korea to battle United Nations forces, Knowland said there no longer was any reason to bar the Nationalists on grounds that their entry into the war would provoke retaliation by the Chinese Reds.

Despite the possible threat of full-scale warfare with the Chinese Communists, President Truman said in a speech in Independence, Mo., that "the common victory against aggression in Korea is evidence that the free nations will not let communism swallow up free peoples one by one."

Earlier in a luncheon talk, the President promised that the United States "never again will run out on its responsibility for preservation of world peace."

Control of Congress

The GOP's chance of regaining control in today's voting appeared to hinge on the outcome of close races in California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Utah.

Fourteen Senate seats are involved in voting in those states, eight of them now held by Democrats and six by Republicans. A clean sweep would give the GOP one more than it needs for control of the Senate. With some others, the same states could provide the necessary gain in House seats for GOP control of that body.

The Republicans apparently had only secondary hopes of picking up Democratic seats in such states as Kentucky, Maryland, Oklahoma and Washington.

Democrats continued to claim that they not only will turn back the Republicans but will improve their strength in the Senate, where they now outnumber the GOP 54 to 42 and in the House, where the count is 259 Democrats to 169 Republicans, one American-Labor and six vacancies, divided evenly among Republicans and Democrats when last filled.

The Democrats concentrated on attempts to knock off Republican Senators in Colorado, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Missouri and Ohio.

Governorship races in 13 out of 33 states are counted as close. Of these 13 statehouse posts, seven

Have 65,000 On Election Returns

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—(P)—An army of 65,000 men and women will gather and report tonight's election reports for the Associated Press.

Months of planning have welded the AP's own staff, special election workers, and the staffs of member newspapers and radio stations into a single team to cover the nation's 115,000 polling places.

They are tied together by 300,000 miles of leased wires that permit instant compiling and reporting of returns for the thousands of national, state and local races.

The plan is based on the simple principle of gather-compile-report, but the job itself calls for staff-work equal to a great military operation.

Thousands of specially trained and briefed reporters, workers, tabulators, clerical workers, messengers and supervisors must be spotted in the right place at the right time to handle the fast-breaking story.

Returns from individual polling places will flow into state and regional bureaus, and then on to Washington where AP writers will tell the story from the national viewpoint.

ing booths.

Voted "Straight"

Mr. Truman went into one of them to mark his ballot.

As he emerged he was asked: "Did you vote the straight Democratic ticket?"

"Oh sure, what would you expect the president of the United States to do?"

The White House caravan left the Muehlebach hotel in Kansas City shortly after 9:15 a. m. and arrived here about 9:35 a. m., ten minutes earlier than expected.

The usual crowd of townspeople which gathered to see the president vote were excluded from the polling place. Secret servicemen were posted at every door.

Striding briskly to the poll officials' table, Mr. Truman shook hands in turn with each of the six judges and clerks, both Democratic and Republican.

The president took a ballot from Tom W. Snoddy, Democratic judge, who was substituting for Mr. Truman's brother-in-law, George P. Wallace, who is ill.

After marking the ballot and placing it in the ballot box to the flicker of photographers' flash bulbs, the president shook hands with Jim Noel, Independence city councilman, and William Lewis, county highway employee and a Democratic worker in the precinct.

Only the members of the Independence Chamber of Commerce board of directors, who had asked to be photographed with Mr. Truman at 9:45 a. m., when he was expected to vote, were on hand.

Mayor Robert P. Weatherford, Jr., also posed with the group when the president said: "Bob, you come and get in this, too."

The president left here to vote in person after mailing an absentee ballot several weeks ago.

C. R. Layland, chairman of the Jackson county election commissioners, said the absentee ballot would be voided before the official count. Such ballots are always checked against the names of those who vote in person.

Admitted to Mercy Hospital

Sandra Jo Talley, 17-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Talley of Ottumwa, was admitted yesterday to Children's Mercy Hospital in Kansas City for medical care.

are now filled by Democrats and six by Republicans. Democrat governors outnumber Republicans now, 29 to 19.

The 13 states with warmly contested races include California, Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma and Wisconsin.

Results of the balloting will have a strong bearing on the political futures of some candidates.

Most conspicuous of these is Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who may be a contender for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952 if he is re-elected to the Senate.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Republican nominee who didn't win the presidency in 1944 and 1948, fought hard for reelection as governor, winding up his campaign with a marathon television stint. Dewey says he won't try again for the presidential nomination.

Mustangs In Fight With Jets

By Hal Boyle
U. S. FIFTH AIR FORCE HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Nov. 7.—(P)—Sixteen U. S. F-51 Mustang fighters today engaged ultramodern Russian-built jet fighters in the longest air battle of the Korean war.

American F-80 Shooting Star jets, ordered to the battle over Sinuiju near the border of Communist Manchuria, arrived too late.

A Fifth Air Force spokesman said no American planes were damaged. Three of the sweptback wing Red jets were reported hit during the hour-and-a-half dog-fight.

The Russian-made jets—MIG-15s, faster than any U. S. plane in the Korean war—flew across the YALU river boundary into Manchuria.

A special communique said the combat was joined at 2:25 p. m. (11:25 a. m. CST) when four MIG-15s attacked four propeller-driven Mustangs. The spokesman said the battle ended at 3:50 p. m. (12:50 a. m. CST).

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, Jr., 232 South Stewart avenue, have returned from a vacation, spent in San Francisco and Redwood City, Calif.

Mrs. Margaret Youngkamp has returned home after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. James J. Kane, Mr. Kane and daughter, Cathy Ann, of Moorhead, Minn. Enroute home she spent several days in Kansas City, with her daughters, Mrs. Robert Fowler, Mrs. Harold Hudson and Mrs. Leo Weber and their families.

Charge Effort To Force Strike

labor in Missouri has worked for his defeat.

Suspensions Made

The company suspended 15 employees yesterday for refusing to pick up telephone maintenance materials. The union contended the employees, members of the union, would have had to cross a picket line to get the materials.

The picket line was established by CWA members on strike against Western Electric Co. in St. Louis. The Western Electric workers walked out last week in protest against lack of progress in national negotiations between the union and Western Electric, the equipment affiliate of the Bell telephone system.

It was the company's suspension of six employees in a similar dispute that led to a walkout of the telephone workers here Friday and Saturday. The walkout was called off by the union Saturday night.

"Fifty-One Sent Home"

Z. Lyle Brown, district manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, at the local office, when contacted concerning the strike now in progress in St. Louis, stated that 51 men in the St. Louis area have been sent home for refusal to perform assigned work. Twenty-nine of the men are St. Louis county employees and 22 are from St. Louis City.

Brown asserted that these men will be welcomed back to work by the company when they agree to do tasks assigned to them.

Korean Situation At A Glance

By the Associated Press

THE FRONT: U. S. warplanes and Russian-built jets duel 85 minutes near Manchurian border.

Three enemy planes reported hit. No American planes damaged. Lull in ground fighting as large-scale North Korean and Red Chinese attack fails to develop. Enemy may be regrouping. Vanguard of Canada's brigade lands at Pusan to join U. N. forces.

UNITED NATIONS—Diplomats at Lake Success confer on how to handle Gen. MacArthur's charges that Red Chinese troops are now fighting in Korea against U. N. forces. Grave decision faces Security Council meeting tomorrow.

WASHINGTON—Informed officials said the United States favors a simple demand by the U. N. Security Council that Red China cease her aid to North Korea.

Remove Tack From Lung

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 7.—(P)—The tack is gone and so is the cough.

Dennis Fisher, 7, a Negro boy of Potosi, Mo., had a bad cough for a year until surgeons at Children's hospital yesterday removed a carpet tack and a small infected area it had caused in the boy's lung.

The surgeons said Dennis will be all right now.

Dale Lane Much Improved

Dale Lane, age 11, of route 5, a patient at General hospital, Kansas City, suffering with polio, is much improved, according to word from his bedside. He was able to talk much better on Monday and attending physicians are now hopeful of his recovery.

State School For Negro Girls

Not far north of Tipton is the State Training School for Negro Girls. This school was established in 1916, is located in one large three story brick building, a place to train and educate delinquent girls.

The present superintendent of the school is Mrs. Lena Collins, formerly of Jefferson City, who has headed the institution for five years. Her husband, H. B. Collins, at one time a teacher at Lincoln University in Jefferson City, is the manager.

In school this year are 26 girls ranging in age from 15 to 18. Since Mrs. Collins arrived at the school, the girls have been placed on an honor system and given certain privileges not granted to girls before.

Have Regular Work

Each girl has various duties she must perform during the day. They are in the laundry, the kitchen, the milking barn or in gardens. When the girls have finished their tasks they are free for the remainder of the day.

During the school year teachers offer courses for 7th to 10th grade students. This schooling is credited by the state. In connection with the schooling is the school library, with a large supply of books and the sewing classes which are held all year. Before the sewing school was introduced, and the girls allowed to make their own clothes, uniforms were worn. The only uniforms issued today are to those working in the kitchen and dining room.

Recently Remodeled

Recently the school was remodeled on the inside. Walls were repainted, dining room and kitchen improved and a new system of lighting installed throughout the building.

Eight persons are employed in the school itself and an additional four workmen are used in the operation of the farm connected with the school. The farm comprises 165 acres of land which has been planted in corn and oats.

Registered Milk Cows

Ten registered milk cows supply milk for the farm, the unused milk is fed to the large number of hogs on the farm. These pigs provide one of the main sources of the school's meat supply. Mr. Collins, following the hog slaughter, smokes most of the hams. Another meat product raised on the farm are chickens, which are included on the menu each Sunday.

Religious services are afforded the girls each Sunday. Each week a different pastor from nearby parishes holds services. Sunday is also a day when the girls are provided with extensive recreational activities. Movies are shown each month.

Dr. J. F. Potts, of Tipton, goes to the school and gives scheduled examinations. The school maintains a well equipped first aid room which is used by the doctor during his examinations. A dentist also makes calls at the school.

Spikes In Kill Of Wild Beasts

Not at all unlike the notches on a gangster's gun are the 28 big spikes imbedded in the shepherd's rod of Stephen A. Haboush. The difference is that each spike represents a dead jackal, hyena or wolf—not a human life.

Nowadays he spends his time lecturing before church and school groups, telling them of his boyhood as a Palestinian shepherd and showing his full color motion picture of the Holy Land. The much-sacred rod more than once has made the difference between life and death for him and his flocks on the lonely western shores of the Sea of Galilee.

"For several years I was a nursemaid to a flock of 85 sheep and a dozen goats," he said recently. "It wasn't an easy job. The goats made my life miserable and the stray sheep unhappy. Most of my trouble was with the goats, however. And I love goats as much as the Irish like the English. Nevertheless, thanks to my trusty black oak rod, I never lost more than seven or eight animals a year. That's even a pretty good record among the Palestinian tribes of today."

His father was makter, or head, of the Haboush tribe in old Galilee—north of the city of Nazareth. When the father died several years ago, Stephen Haboush became patriarchal head of the tribe despite the fact he lived in the United States and had become a citizen.

"As a result, I have to return to my homeland every four years," he said. "In the meantime our tribal affairs are handled by a council of sheikhs."

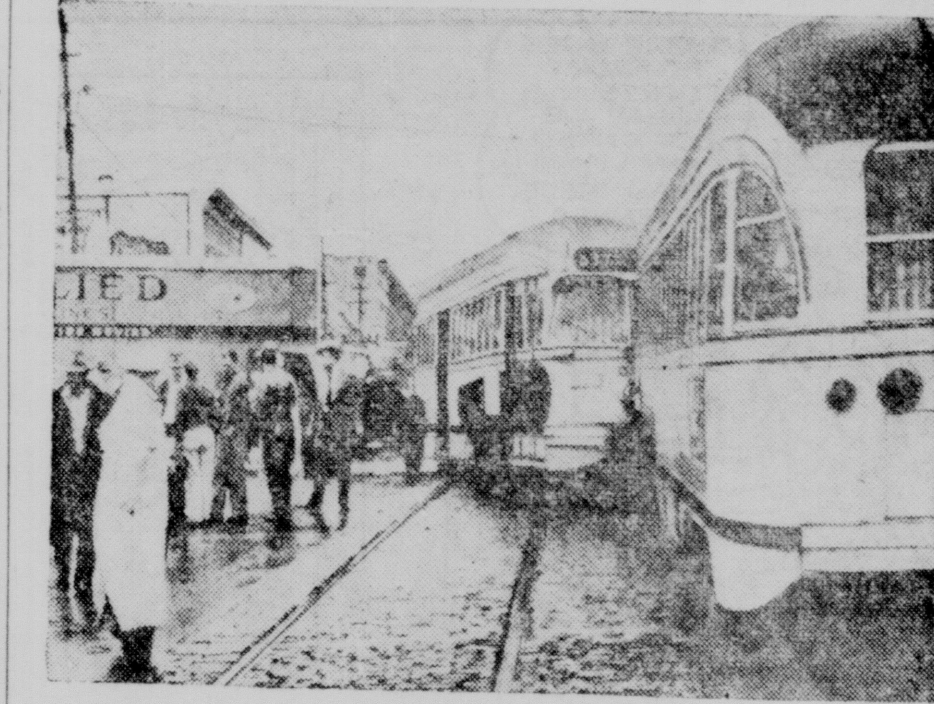

When he first came to the United States he "bit the chautauqua trail" with such figures as the late William Jennings Bryan, the former Ambassador Josephus Daniels, and Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the famed arctic explorer. He has been at it ever since, turning to the churches and schools when chautauque vanished.

Therefore, it is going to be a rare opportunity for the people of Sedalia to meet and hear this native son of Galilee when he and Madame Haboush present their Bible Land Musical Travelogue of the Holy Land in natural color films and other special features.

They will appear at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium on Thursday, November 16, at 7:30 p. m., under the auspices of the Men's club of St. Paul's Lutheran church, the Rev. Walter F. Strickert, pastor.

It is a program that will be a delight and an inspiration to all who are fortunate enough to attend. Madame Haboush will have charge of the music and two young men will operate the professional equipment.

two members of the family, F. M. and J. H. Gleim were co-owners of a local store.

In MacLay Family

The house has remained in the family since that time and is now utilized as a summer home for the remaining members of the family, Mrs. Alfred Shortridge, Berkeley, Calif., Mrs. Walter Swarner, Mercedes, Texas, Miss Laura MacLay and Miss Eleanor MacLay, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and W. H. MacLay, of Dallas, Texas. All the summer occupants are of the fourth generation of the Gleim family.

In the 1880's fire destroyed the main street in Tipton, which is actually the only major disaster to strike the town. Many citizens still claim that the two men who ran one of the livery barns there from 1873 to 1874 were Frank and Jesse James. These same residents said that although they did not stay long, during the time they were in business there they conducted themselves like model citizens.

Tipton today has been changed in many ways, the settlers had supplied the initiative, the Irish a sense of willingness and industry and the Germans, lastly, a sense of security. All these combined to form the characteristic vitality and stability that is now Tipton.

Reds Push Iraq Drive

BAGHDAD (AP)—Communist activities in Iraq are now centered in the northern Kurdish provinces, reliable informants say. Communist organizers—after meeting strong government opposition in Baghdad and other cities—have shifted the weight of their activities into the rugged northern areas. It's easier for them to go into hiding when the heat is on.

One prominent Kurdish leader told a correspondent "Communist propaganda, holding out lures of better living conditions and self government, is not only stronger than ever before in the northern Kurdish provinces, but is developing CHICAGO (AP)—Plastics more resistant to corrosive acids than stainless steel were described to the American Chemical Society by Dr. Raymond B. Seymour of the Atlas Mineral Products Co., Mertztown, Pa.

These are phenolic resins, made in a process in which sulfuric acid turns them from liquids to solids. A big tank protected by such resins developed no "ulcers" in 12 years' service despite a daily diet of 100,000 gallons of boiling sulfuric acid, he said. The acid was used to break down iron rust in the process of steel pickling.

Picknickers are advised to provide some means to keep their food supplies cool on summer's hot days and thus avoid spoilage.

Mrs. Rebecca Peckinpaugh, 1907 West Penn St., Evansville, Ind., says her favorite pastime these days is going fishing with her husband—that is, of course, since she has been relieved of aches and pains in the shoulders, arms, legs and back by taking HADACOL because she found she had a deficiency of Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. She now has the vitality and energy to do many things that, before HADACOL gave her these necessary elements, she was unable to do.

Here is Mrs. Peckinpaugh's own statement: "I was sure in an awful fix for a while. My arms, legs, hips and back were sure in a sorry condition. My appetite was awful bad—couldn't hardly eat anything. Didn't know what I was going to do—I really felt bad. Then one day I heard how other folks were being helped by HADACOL. I decided to try it. Now I have taken 5 bottles of HADACOL and I sure feel fine. My arms, legs, back and hips don't ache a bit. I have never heard of anything so wonderful as HADACOL. I even have a wonderful appetite. For sick folks who really want to know what to do—I say try HADACOL."

Yes, You Should Try HADACOL. As have thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Iron and Niacin. The HADACOL formula is so effective for aches and pains in shoulders, legs and arms, and a general run-down condition due to such deficiencies in your system. Make up your mind to give remarkable HADACOL a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others whose systems lacked Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron. Remember, there are no substitutes for HADACOL. Always insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk involved. Buy a bottle of HADACOL, either the trial size, $1.25, or the large family size or hospital size, $3.50, and if HADACOL does not help you, your money will be refunded. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana. Copyright 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation.

Musial Is On All-Star Team Of Big Leagues

American Has Seven and The National Four

By Joe Reichler

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP)—Seven players from the American and four from the National make up the 1950 major league All-Star team selected for the Associated Press today by 381 sports writers and sportscasters from coast to coast.

Half of the 16 big league clubs, four in each circuit, are represented in the AP's fifth annual All-Star squad. The world champion New York Yankees and the Boston Red Sox are the only clubs to have more than one representative. In addition to shortstop Phil Rizzuto, the most popular of the 11 selections, the Yanks landed outfielder Joe DiMaggio and catcher Yogi Berra. The Red Sox provide first baseman Walt Dropo and utility man Billy Goodman.

Not a single member of the National League champion Philadelphia Phillies made the team. In fact, the only first division club to be represented is Brooklyn. One man from St. Louis, one from Pittsburgh and one from Boston complete the National League entry. Detroit and Cleveland of the American League also placed one man each.

The All-Star Team
First base—Walt Dropo, Red Sox.
Second base—Jackie Robinson, Dodgers.
Third base—George Kell, Detroit.
Shortstop—Phil Rizzuto, Yankees.
Right field—Stan Musial, Cardinals.
Center field—Joe DiMaggio, Yankees.
Catcher—Yogi Berra, Yankees.
Right-handed pitcher—Bob Lemon, Indians.
Utility—Billy Goodman, Red Sox.

Burial For 'Old Pete' Monday

ST. PAUL, Neb., Nov. 7—(AP)—The body of Grover Cleveland Alexander lay today in a quiet cemetery in the hills not far away from this central Nebraska town where he was born.

Alexander, whose pitching wizardry a generation ago elevated him to baseball's Hall of Fame, was buried yesterday with military services conducted by the American Legion. He had served in the AEF in the first world war.

The St. Louis Cardinals, for whom "Old Pete" had once played, paid for the funeral.

Alexander died here Saturday of a heart ailment.

One of those who came here for the services was Alexander's former wife, Aimee. She said that $100 a month which Alex had collected after his playing days ended came from Sam Breadon, late president of the Cards. She said the money was paid through National League headquarters and Alex always thought it was a pension from the league.

The only persons who knew the actual source, she said, were herself, Breadon, National League President Ford Frick and Bill Walsingham, Cardinal business manager.

Walsingham later commented from St. Louis that the pension had been suggested by Breadon "but it came from National League funds."

Race Driver Starts Two Year Term

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 7—(AP)—Branch "Tiny" Wainwright, the chubby, former Kansas City midget auto racer, entered Missouri penitentiary Monday to start serving a two-year sentence.

Wainwright and William DeWayne Brown were charged with assaulting a 65-year-old Russellville farmer during an attempted holdup June 16, 1949.

Cole County Circuit Judge Sam C. Blair sentenced Wainwright today. He was convicted for the second time last month but sentence was stayed for 30 days to give his attorneys time to file a motion for a new trial.

The motion was filed Oct. 30. Today, however, one of Wainwright's attorneys, Ed C. Orr of Columbia, asked that the request for a new trial be overruled.

Brown was tried last month in

Army Grabs First Place In Grid Poll

Ohio State Sweeps Into Second Spot; SMU Falls To 7th

NEW YORK, Nov. 7—(AP)—Army nosed out Ohio State in a photo finish Monday to recapture the No. 1 spot in the Associated Press weekly college football poll.

Southern Methodist, leader the last two weeks, tumbled to seventh place with only two firsts among 314 votes.

Ohio State's high-scoring machine actually received more first place ballots than Army, 94-88 but the Cadets rolled up enough points for second and third to eke out a win, 2,451 to 2,402.

Points in this nationwide poll of football writers and radio sportscasters are figured on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second and so on down to one for 10th place.

Sooners Hold Third

Oklahoma was a close-up third with 48 firsts and 2,398 points despite a rugged 27-18 ball game with Colorado. Kentucky charged into fourth place with 35 firsts and 1,920 points on its 40-6 rout of Florida.

Texas, which knocked SMU out of the perfect record class, moved into fifth position with 11 firsts and 1,911 points.

Others in the first ten in order were California, Southern Methodist, Princeton, Miami and Illinois.

Tennessee topped the second ten with Michigan State, Clemson and Wyoming following. Then came Wisconsin, Nebraska, Washington and Maryland a three-way tie for 19th among UCLA, Kansas and Lehigh.

Army Has Breather

Army (6-0) disposed of the Pennsylvania threat, 28-13, to move into the final third of its schedule with a streak of 26 games without a loss. New Mexico is the next opponent Saturday.

Ohio State (5-1) drew tremendous support after its 32-0 romp over Northwestern. Ohio hasn't lost since opening day when they dropped a 32-27 decision to SMU.

Next for Ohio State is Wisconsin, winner of five of six.

The Oklahoma Sooners (6-0) overcame Colorado for their 27th straight, a modern record. Now they bump up against a good Kansas team.

Kentucky Meets Ole Miss

Kentucky's romp over Florida promoted 35 first place votes and an advance to fourth place. The Wildcats (8-0) have three to go. Starting with Mississippi State Saturday.

Both Texas (5-1) and Southern Methodist (5-1) their Saturday victim, face a rugged week-end. Texas plays Baylor and SMU faces Texas A. and M.

California (7-0) edged past Washington, 14-7, and now bumps into UCLA, another rugged test. Princeton (6-0), one of the shrinking list of major unbeaten clubs, easily whipped Colgate, 45-7, and will be highly favored to knock off Harvard in the first big three game.

Miami (6-0), 42-7 winners over Georgetown, entertains Louisville Friday and Illinois (5-1) rounds out top ten activity by playing Iowa.

Rickey Signs With Pirates

'Mahatma' Named General Manager Of Celler Club

By JIM HOLTON

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 7—(AP)—

Branch Rickey—baseball's master maker of pennant teams—today took command of the National league's last-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The bushy-browed diamond mogul was named executive vice president and general manager of the gold-plated Bucs. The contract will run five years with a clause allowing a possible five-year extension.

Terms Not Disclosed

Neither Rickey nor Pirate President John Galbreath disclosed financial terms.

Galbreath put out words of the Rickey deal at a news conference in plush Forbes Field offices of the Pirates.

A beaming Rickey shrugged off most questions about his plans for the Bucs with the statement: "I don't know yet."

Branch Jr., Also Signs

Rickey's son, Branch, Jr., joined the Pittsburgh club along with "the Mahatma."

Asked about positions to be held by young Rickey and present general manager Roy Hamey, the former Brooklyn Dodgers executive commented:

"I'm not familiar with the titles in the club's corporate structure so I don't know what we'll call them."

Three General Managers

"But I see nothing wrong with having two or three general managers."

"Roy will continue to do much the same job he has in the past, concentrating on players. My son will have a similar responsibility."

The 68-year-old Rickey sucked a moment on "is cigar, then growled:

"But, of course, I'll be in that

SO YOU THINK YOU HAVE A HOUSING PROBLEM? — There's no day nursery in war-blasted Wonsan, Korea, to park junior while mama gets on with her task of rebuilding their wrecked home. So this Korean baby, strapped to its mother's back, gets a rough ride as she helps her companion saw up part of the house frame for rebuilding.

Iowa Jima Statue to Be Marine Memorial

NEW YORK—(AP)—Gen. Clifton B. Gates, commandant of the United States Marine Corps, recently made the initial contribution to a fund for a Marine Corps memorial to be erected near Washington.

Weighing 100 tons, the massive bronze depiction of the two Jima flag-raising will tower 100 feet from Phenyl benzoate, have been

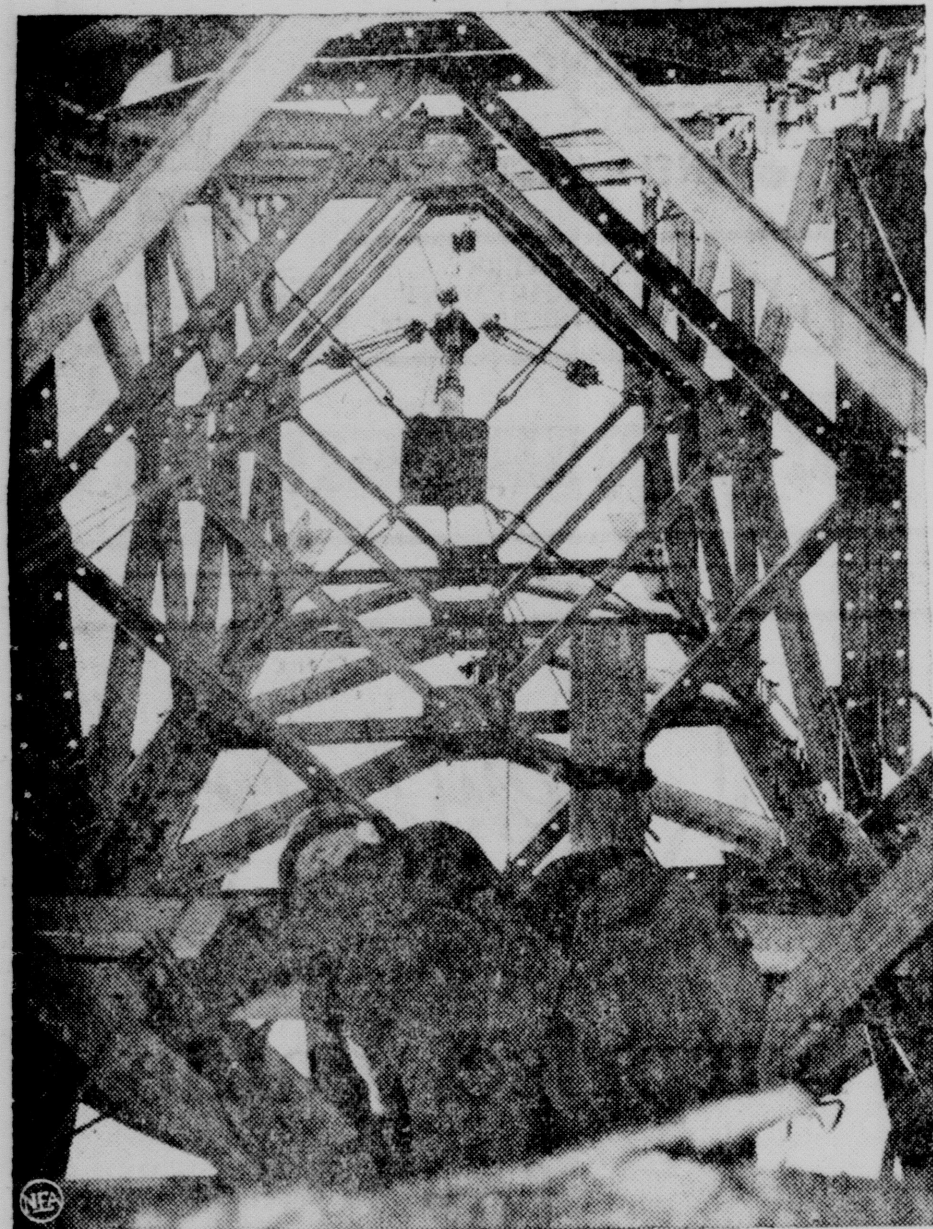

It is to be the first national memorial to the Marine Corps.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Plastics with chemical eyeshades or guards against destructive ultraviolet light are reported by Dr. L. W. A. Meyer of the Tennessee Eastman Corp., Kingsport, Tenn. Ultraviolet light causes a breakdown by chemical action in many kinds of plastics exposed to the sun. Six different compounds, derived from Phenyl benzoate, have been found which protect plastics against this action, he told the American Chemical Society. These protectors absorb light and change it into heat, and do not harm or alter the plastic. Such protectors

Campbell Has Destructive Fire

CAMPBELL, Mo., Nov. 7.—(P)—The most destructive fire in Campbell in over 50 years was brought under control today by combined efforts of firemen from Campbell, Piggott, Ark., Malden and Kennett, Mo., and the loss was estimated at in excess of $400,000.

The fire, which swept through one business block and damaged some buildings across the street, was discovered in the rear of the new Kroger super market by a truck driver at 3:30 Monday. It spread rapidly and frantic pleas of Fire Chief Paul Slankard brought the neighboring firemen quickly.

The business establishments destroyed included the Kroger store, the Rodney Harber barber shop, the Thrift shop owned by C. E. Toober; Western Auto store; Head and Smoot drug store; Elmer Goodman's Gamble store and the Masonic hall.

Badly damaged were the C. D. Gray law office; Dr. W. A. McGuire's office, the Williams general store and the Boch music store.

The intense heat also set fire to tops of the Ramst drug store and the Joe Miller store across the street to the north but the flames were extinguished without heavy damage.

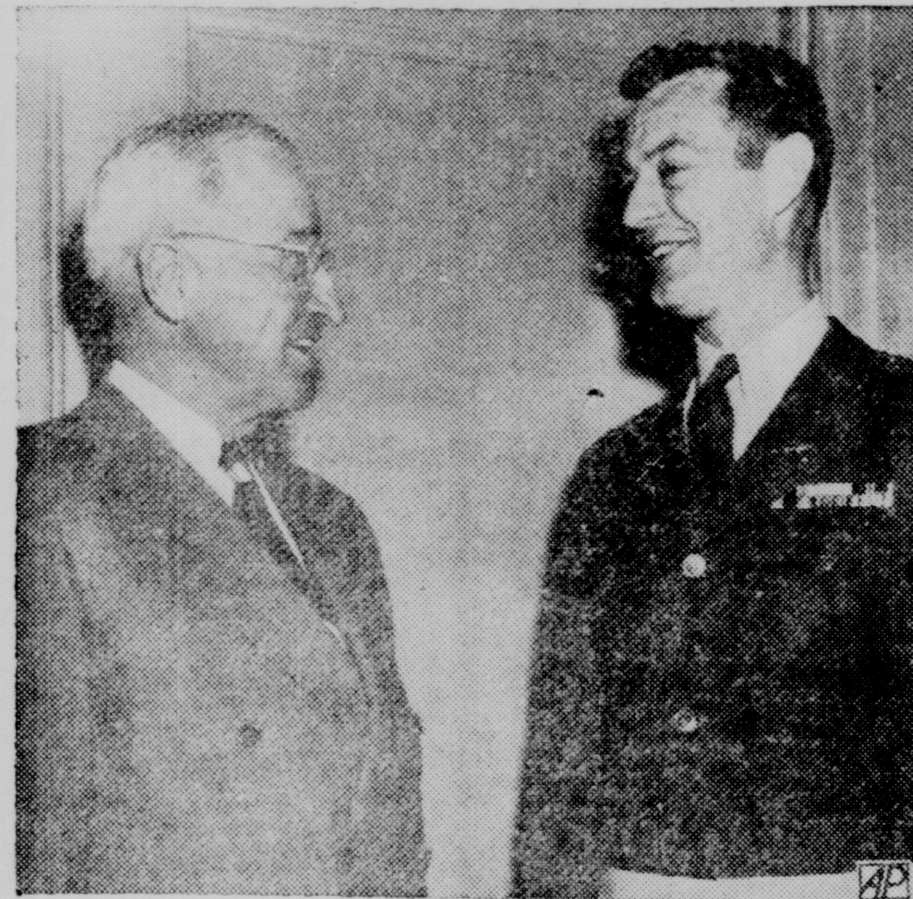

In 1897 the business block just across the street was destroyed by fire.
